

Cricket.. Tanweer

Bomber's last game

SUICIDE bomber Shehzad Tanweer played cricket the night before he blew himself up.

The 22-year-old also argued with a petrol station assistant on the way to carry out the 7/7 bombings after he was short-changed.

The bizarre behaviour from somebody who was about to kill himself and murder commuters was revealed by an anti-terror branch officer at a police seminar in Preston.

He said: "Arguing over change is not the behaviour of a terrorist. You would think this is normal. Are these the actions of someone who is about to blow themselves up?"

101202 022010101